High school students seem to realize the importance of an education; these years can be the most fulfilled and carefree of your entire life. They include opportunities which will never again be available to you.

Although examinations seem intolerable and the deadlines impossible, do not become discouraged. These challenges will help to prepare you for a rewarding future.

Social life will reach its highest point during your school days. Your friendships will be unlimited, your activities inspiring, and your opportunities unbarred. Leo High School offers you your whole future.

THIS IS YOUR CHANCE!

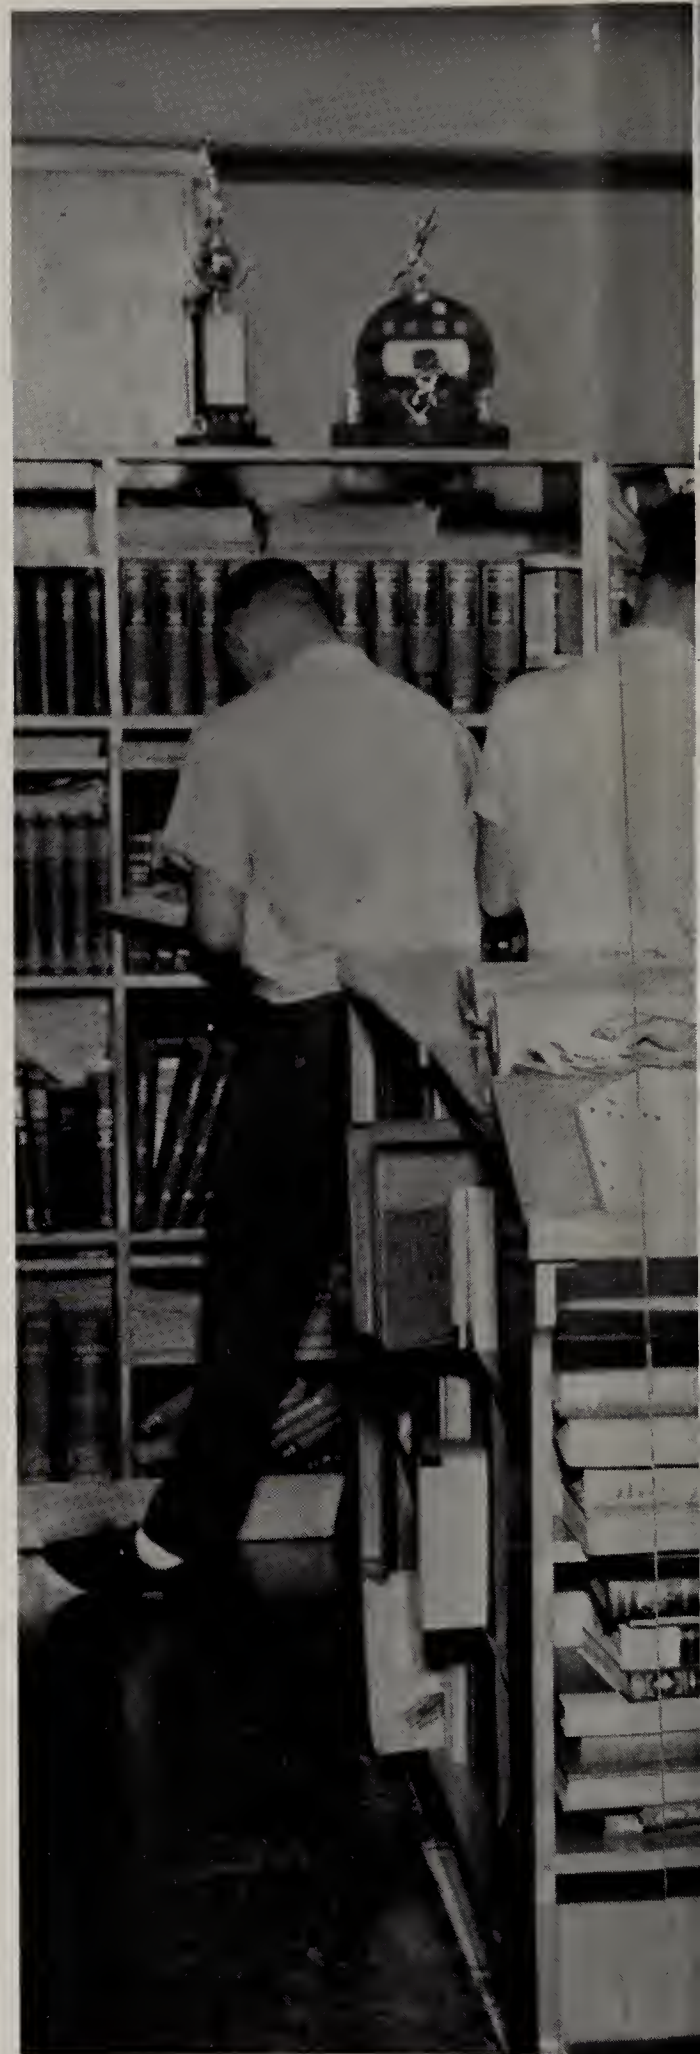

Things are looking up

Academics

Studies were with us this year as always. However, relief from both grades and school would not be so wonderful as some students think. For without school there would be no tourneys, club activities, or school dances.

Many of Leo's most enjoyable activities originate from working for scholastic credit. Good academic work is a valuable asset for Leo's college-bound students. A personal feeling of accomplishment is often the result of knowing that one has done well.

"Knowledge will not be acquired without pains and application. It is troublesome and deep digging for pure waters; but when once you come to the spring, they rise up and meet you."—Felton

The Reference Room of the Library is one of the newest facilities at Leo. Here we find Bob Boyce, Tom Arnold, Diane Hullinger, Ramona Amstutz, Ellen Witmer, and Darrel Lederman looking very studious.

Mrs. Seifert patiently awaits her students.

Students Communicate Through

A senior student reports to the class.

Communication between two people is virtually impossible without the use of a language, unless sign-language or smoke signals are used.

The language department at Leo is an excellent one, and the necessity for a knowledge of some language is recognized by most of the students. Our speech, Spanish, and English classes are all taught by experienced teachers. The speech class provides many an enjoyable moment for the student body while the English and Spanish classes instruct students in the proper usage of the language.

"Knowledge is a treasure, but practice is the key to it."

Chemistry students carry out various experiments.

In this world of advanced space exploration and missiles it is necessary to have a knowledge of math and the sciences. All students are given a taste of each division; some are so important that they are required subjects. These two departments present a challenge to the mind. Tomorrow a knowledge of science and math will not be a luxury, but a necessity.

The A cappella choir, under the capable direction of Mr. McBane, provides enjoyable music for their four major performances and at contest. The choir, though smaller this year than last, "is blessed with an abundance of basses."

These students, all from the top three grades, learn to co-operate and carry their part of the load with the result of being a very successful choir.

LeRoy E. McBane, the capable head of the Music Department.

Although the high school band is not a large group, Mr. McBane, builds them into a close-knit group by contest time. The band plays all types of music from the "pop" music heard at ball games to classical pieces like "The 1812 Overture" by Tschaikovsky. The band performs the year around for the community and various organizations.

The main project of the band is the annual fruitcake sale. The band members enjoy their new uniforms bought with profits from the fruitcake sales and with the help of an interested community.

This year the band received firsts at the district and state music contests. This was the first band in the history of Leo High School to receive such an honor.

The driver education class is planned to teach students about the responsibility one assumes when he owns a car and drives a car on the highway. Students have classroom study as well as behind-the-wheel training. The commercial curriculum offers typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and clerical office practice. Many students take advantage of this curriculum that prepares them for secretarial and office work. These classes teach efficiency, initiative, and accuracy. The home economics classes are for girls in grades seven through twelve. The girls study cooking, nutrition, home furnishing, home management, child care, and sewing. This provides valuable experience for future mother and homemakers.

Mr. Seabold, which one is right?

The present and the future are built on the past. Students must learn about the founding and building of our country because we are the architects of tomorrow. This area is not left for the last couple years of school but begins in grade and junior high school. We must also know about our government and its principles because we will be the leaders and voters of tomorrow. To be good citizens, we must be informed: good citizens build a strong nation.

Physical education plays an important part in the required curriculum of Leo students in grades seven through ten. The purposes of physical education are to develop the body and to promote the qualities of leadership and sportsmanship. Several activities in which both boys and girls can take part are softball, basketball, volleyball, bowling, tennis, horseshoes, and track.

The art classes are for students with artistic abilities and interests. Several phases of art which they learn are painting, ceramics, printing and designing. Students have opportunities to display their work by decorating the halls during holiday seasons.

Activities

Students at Leo have a high average of participation in extra-curricular activities. These activities, whether sports or singing, create a break in the everyday routine of school work. Students are rewarded in various ways.

By working together for a single purpose, students learn the meaning of a real "community effort." Sometimes organizations worked to gain funds to carry on their various club activities. The GAA sold school keys to be able to have play-days throughout the year. The Lettermen's Club sold sweatshirts to the student body to provide money for their smorgasbord which they held in the spring. Each club has a purpose, but behind each club, there must be enthusiasm and that means students.

Drill Squad

Activity, Athletics, Art,

Leo High School provides various extracurricular activities in which the students may participate. The Drill Squad, which is sponsored by Mr. McBane, has been organized for only a few years. Since its origin, it has perfected itself into a well-organized and uniform group of young performers. Although drilling mostly for home basketball games filled their schedule, they have also performed on various other occasions.

The Girls' Athletic Association has a prime interest of keeping athletics an active part of every sports-conscious girl's school life. The GAA provides a goal for its members by offering letters and sweaters to those girls who can earn the sufficient number of points. These points may be earned by

and Accuracy

Library Club is an organization comprising twenty-three student librarians, who receive valuable training as they work in the library and, in turn, render very worthwhile service to the school. The most important goals to be derived from this experience is the development of skill in using reference tools to further the pupil's own educational goals; other values include developing a sense of responsibility, initiative, ability to work with others, and work experience planned to approximate job experiences.

A Christmas dance, a Valentine dance, and the junior high party were sponsored by the Student Council. The main objective of the council this year has been the discussion of school improvement suggestions given by the student body. Some of the suggestions involved various election procedures, equipment check-out, and plans for paving the school parking lot.

Politicians and Projectionists

The projectionists operate the audio-visual aids of education. The members have to pass certain requirements before they can get a license to operate the equipment. In their Tuesday meetings the members discussed business, got acquainted with the new machines, and passed the requirements for their licenses. During their studyhalls the members showed films to the classes. The officers of the club are as follows: D. Patton, pres.; L. Garrett, v. pres.; L. Eubank, sec.; D. Lederman, treas. The above people make it possible for the students to keep up on school news and activities. The Lion's Tale has been organized for five years under the supervision of Mrs. Sauder. Our paper is distributed throughout the school to all students. Students are selected to be on the staff and are required to carry a "B" average in language arts.

The girls below are the Production Editors of the newspaper. Each girl combines much time and effort in order to produce an interesting paper for the students' enjoyment. Altogether they spend 10-15 hours setting up, typing, and mimeographing the paper. The production staff is supervised by Mrs. Mumma.

The officers for the 1964-1965 year were President, Ruth Steininger; Vice-President, Marsha Ringenberg; and Sec.-Treas., Diane Hullinger.

The club boasts twelve members in good standing. Activities for the year included obtaining the charter, attending the area workshop and state convention, and participation in elementary school and high school during the months of December and April, respectively. Yearbook Staff Presents Synopsis

The 1964-65 yearbook staff, though putting in many extra hours of work, has enjoyed working together for the student body's benefit. The staff met once a week during the activity period. At this time the editors had an opportunity to meet with staff members. Mrs. Sauder, supervisor, spent many trying hours ironing out problems.

Editor Sharon Ort found it was no easy job composing the annual; as did Drinda on keeping the business end of it straight. The two girls spent two weeks on the Indiana University campus where they attended daily sessions of the Yearbook Institute.

of 1964-65 School Year

The staff was blessed with two fine photographers this year. Brock Wells and Jim Hedges were given a list of pictures to get for each editor. They were expected to show up with something for each one.

Jim Bell was the representative to our school from the Taylor Publishing Company. He was at the school several times to explain some fine points to the staff.

It was decided by the staff to have a fall book this year so that graduation, the prom, the banquet, and final sports events could be included. It is now hoped that the yearbook will be able to be produced annually.

The girls had several games before the tourney, defeating and being defeated by such teams as Auburn and New Haven.

All in all, the girls did a fine job this season.

Richard Reed finished the season with a .500 batting average, and we hope this continues. The other members of the team show much interest and great promise.

Pitchers Les Zorger and Steve Zehr did a terrific job and they should be a real asset to any team.

The kids coming up from the elementary grades show great promise and the 1965 season will reap us a large harvest of wins.

Queens and Festivals

The Fall Festival was held November 7, 1964. Each class had money-making projects. Most of the profits go to the student activity fund. The PTA sponsored a ham supper. The Elementary school sponsored a bicycle contest. An auction was the last event of the evening. The auctioneer was Dean Kruse.

Each class sponsored a girl for the Cedar Creek Days Queen Contest. The winners were determined by the amount of tickets that were sold by each candidate. The candidates were Linda Lederman from the senior class, Sandra Braden from the junior class, Mel Rosselot from the sophomore class, Linda Howard from the freshman class, Gail Timmerman from the eighth grade, and Terry Jo Worman from the seventh grade. Mel Rosselot was the senior high queen. Linda Lederman was first runner up, and Sandra Braden was second runner up. Gail Timmerman was the junior high queen. Linda Howard was first runner up, and Terry Jo Worman was second runner up.

Students Find Nourishment Necessary

Concession workers see to it that students get that "sweet tooth" satisfied. The boys work during the noon hour on alternating days. They work on a voluntary basis. Mr. Madden is in charge of the group.

The cafeteria workers give faithfully of their noon time so that the rest of the students may eat well. Because of their efficiency, the lunch line moves smoothly and quickly. The girls are paid for their services as are the concession workers.

The sponsor of the science and radio club is Mr. Hartung. Students have learned the Morse Code for use with a ham radio. Several members have worked on their general ham radio operator's license. Those working on these licenses attended classes in the Jefferson Recreational Center in Fort Wayne.

Technology and Concentration

Randy Burns and Rhett Burgess finish a close game.

Quiet Games is an organized pandemonium. The students take part in all kinds of games. Most popular games are Chinese checkers and Carom. Tournaments have been organized throughout the year. Mr. Seabold directs and referees this active group.

Varied Junior High Music Activities

Many Leo Jr. High students are actively engaged in the Cambiata Choir, which consists of approximately 80 voices. The Jr. High Band has fewer participants but is equally effective.

The high-lights of the Jr. High music program was the Jr. High Music Festival held at Lafayette Central. The Spring Festival was held at Leo and was a challenge for the young musicians.

Much real talent is developed here in Jr. High as was proven by the many superior ratings given to our members in the Northern Indiana School Band, Orchestra, Vocal Association contests held this year at Portage Jr. High.

Practice is the key to any musical success. These young musicians must spend a half hour per day in practice. This includes the summer months for Leo's music program is a year-around program.

Senior Trip

The senior bus trip to Detroit and Canada left the morning of April 2. In Detroit the seniors observed old airplanes and washing machines at the Ford Museum. The tour through Greenfield Village revealed such places as Henry Ford's birthplace and the Wright Cycle Shop. After a box lunch the seniors toured the Ford Motor Plant where they saw the new car assembly line. The group then proceeded to Canada via the Ambassador Bridge. After wandering around and looking for Canadian curios, the seniors returned to the states through the Detroit Tunnel. After an evening meal and a flat tire the travelers arrived in Leo safe, sound, and asleep.

Music Programs Begin

The Christmas Program was presented on December 22, 1964. After the elementary school gave their performance, the High School portion of the program began with a Christmas fanfare and ended with "Silent Night." The last song was sung with the elementary school choir.

The Spring Festival, held May 14, 1965, was composed of the Junior High Band, the Senior High Band, the Senior High Choir, and the Stage Band. A variety of numbers were used ranging from "Overture 1812" by Tschaikovsky to a medley of three songs by Henry Mancini.

"Thank-you" from the senior class

Spring Is the

"Some Enchanted Evening" was the theme for the Junior-Senior Reception of 1965 held in the Shrine Ballroom May 1. After the meal, Kay Zorger welcomed the Senior class and guests. Ted Gehrig retaliated with the "thank-you" on behalf of the Senior class. Jackie Miller then read the Will to the Junior class. Following that a musical number was sung by Diana Henry, Debbie Knepp, and Lowena Gerig. Terry Sauder and Cheryl Deventer read sections of the Prophecy for the Senior class. There followed a skit entitled "Sweet Sixteen" enacted by members of Mrs. Ringenberg's speech class.

Then came the highlight of the evening—the crowning of the Queen and King and naming the court. Ireta Bender and Ted Gehrig received their honors and serving in the court were Jerry Ream and Diane Hullinger, best personality; Jerry Smith and Ramona Amstutz, most athletic; Ron Zimmerman and Barbara Lengacher, shyest; Tom Hursh and Sandy Miller, best dressed; and Pat Masters and Carolyn Bojrab, wittiest.

Time for Banquets

The annual Hi-Y "Best Girl Banquet" for 1965 was held late in April at the Van Orman's "Embers." After the arrival of all the young corsaged ladies and their escorts, the program began. Dave Fruchey, the club's chaplain, gave his invocation after the president, Dave Fishbaugh, welcomed the speaker and the guests.

Following the installation of the new officers, Dave Jones, the new president, introduced Lew Drexler, the speaker for the evening. Mr. Drexler, who was from the Y.M.C.A., showed films on the Olympics in Japan.

On May 10, 1965, the Letterman's Club held a banquet at Hall's Smorgasbord. This year the cheerleaders were invited to attend the banquet. Following the meal, Mr. By Hey, Northside's basketball coach, gave a talk about sportsmanship.

Personalities

Sometimes in the confusion of school life, we tend to look at the students as a whole rather than individually. This section is devoted to separating the individual from the group.

We, the Oracle staff, hope as we present the students to you through our eyes, they will become individual personalities rather than a tireless haze of young faces.

"Every individual nature has its own beauty.—In every company, at every fireside, one is struck with the riches of nature, when he hears so many tones, all musical, sees in each person original manners which have a proper and peculiar charm, and reads new expressions of face."—Emerson

Food

Garnet Chaney, Katie Klopfenstein, and Marion Shoudel are responsible for the nourishing meals that we consume during the nine months in which we are in school. A lot of hard work and after-school preparation goes into each meal. Thank you for all the time and effort.

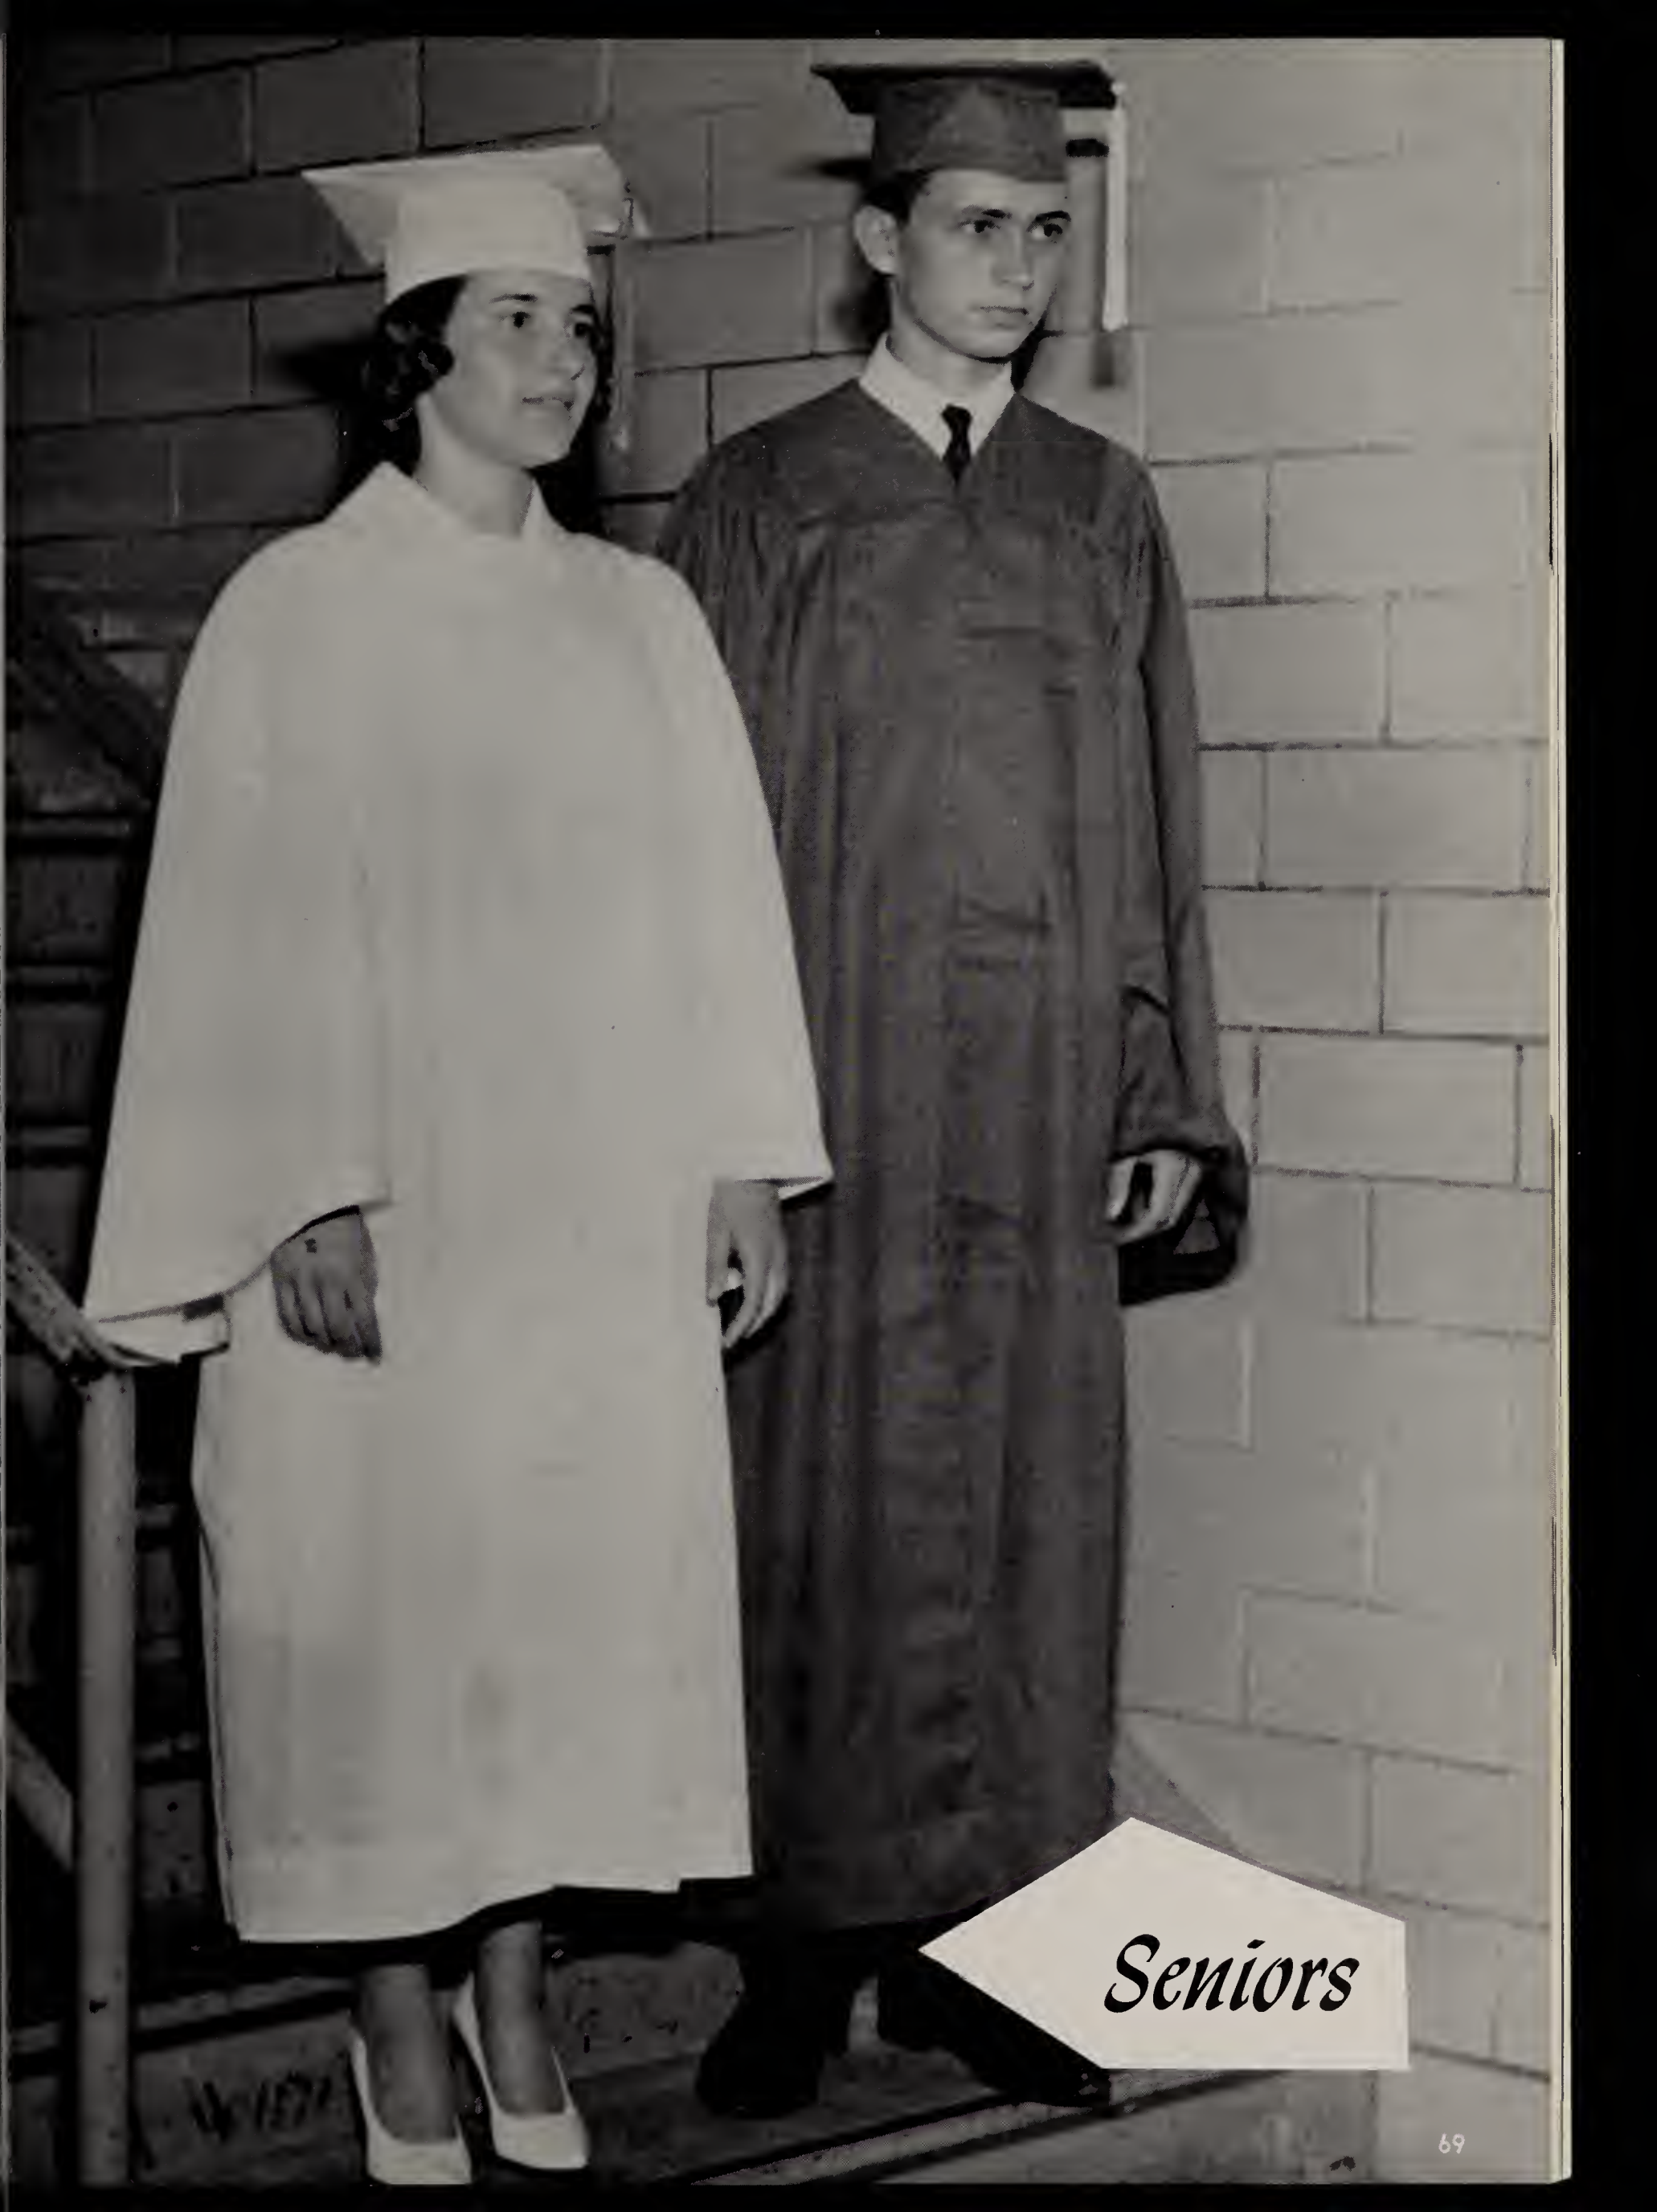

Cleanliness

Have you ever wondered who keeps our school so spotless? Elmer Rediger and Vitus Koch have done a wonderful job of running and cleaning our school during this past year. Without their effort our school would not be the same. Our hats are off to the custodians of 1965!

Safety

Argyl Van Zile, Dale Stuckey, Wayne Bollinger, Mildred Cliften, Robert Hedges, Donald Porter, Lloyd Klopfenstein, and Jesse Liechty have devoted approximately four hours each day to the safety of our student body. Their time and effort are appreciated by every student who rides their buses.
